A Word About Service Fees

In recommending and providing travel services in each of our destinations, South Star Tours reserves accommodations and other services through locally based representatives, with the appropriate local influence. South Star Tours' policy is to ensure that reservations are honored and, in the event of an overbooking, comparable accommodations or travel services are provided. This policy necessitates service fees, especially in cases when marginal commissions earned from such reservations do not cover the overhead costs of confirming, processing and pre-paying services. These costs include all telecommunication costs, international Bank transactions and all sundry disbursements. This policy is reflected in the ultimate price paid by clients for accommodations and travel services. Therefore, if there are any price disparities between the published accommodations and tour rates, South Star Tours will not accept any claims for any price disparities, once the tour proposal and quotation has been accepted and pre-paid by clients and/or their travel agent.
